SCHOOL IS...

Being seniors and coming back to school and laughing at underclassmen suffering through classes.

Getting your squirt gun taken away after you've just bought it.

Having a fire drill and you're only half dressed in the gym.

Putting your hand through the bus window on the senior trip.

Getting caught chewing gum after you've just put it in your mouth.

Running over to the cafeteria right away and finding out your class eats last.

Waiting outside in the rain for the one o'clock bell to ring.

Curriculum Offers Four New Classes

Considerable interest was shown in the four new classes that the administration saw fit to include in the curriculum. Health Ed., German, Physiology, and Ag. Mechanics noticeably broadened the present curriculum and added new interest to an otherwise average schedule. 1971 brought about many changes, not only in the curriculum but also in the dress code and other areas of school. Looking toward the future, these changes and additions will help the student to prepare for a future worthwhile and to be able to further himself in whatever he undertakes.

Even though this may seem like all work and no play, classes included just the right amount of fun to brighten up a day at school. German brought the fun of learning a new language and fooling those who didn't understand; the other classes had lab experiences that brought about learning as well as enjoyment. The years have produced notable changes and future ones will bring continued improvement as we try to make the 70's the best decade ever!

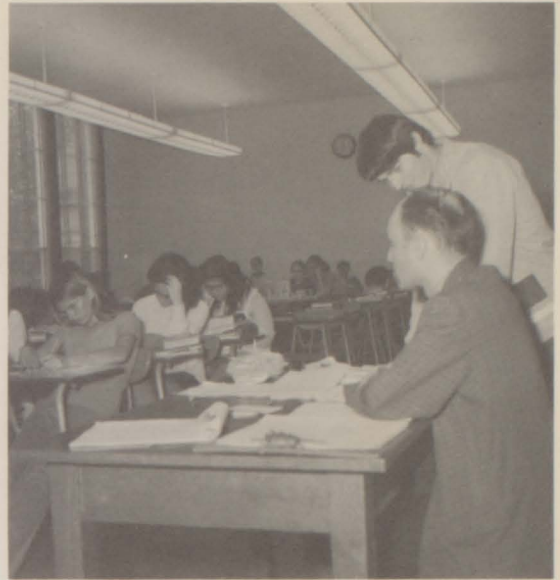

To give their drab lockers a little life, students used their artistic talents to express their feelings.

Some jobs in shop need four hands rather than two. "Watch it, Roger!"

Home Economics I and II students M. Dubas, T. Noble, and P. Grzywa experience a week of play school.

Magazines, books, newspapers, students, meetings, gum, and detention—that is a study hall.

Art is self-expression of a student; but as A. Sack and S. Zywiec show, it requires work.

In Drivers' Ed. and never changed a tire? You will; it's a fact of life. Right, Bev and Tracy?

Administrators Are Mindful Of Future

The 1970-71 Administration made great strides to keep up with the times. With updated curriculum and equipment students were given a better chance of advancement. Some of the new additions were the video-tape machine, the Olivetti Logos Computer-calculator, and the Sharp Electronic Calculator. Another important change was the addition of pantsuits to the dress code.

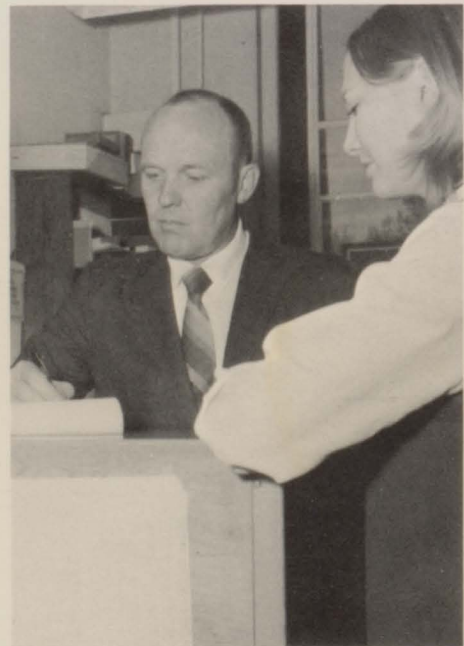

The job of an administrator isn't one of the most sought-after jobs and isn't always the most appreciated, but it is very important to the survival of a high school. The main administrators that the students come in contact with are the principal and the superintendent. These two jobs require an understanding of students, but also a mutual respect for each other and for each other's values. With this kind of understanding and an effort from everyone the quality of our school will continue to escalate.

Gathered around the newly acquired video-tape machine are the 1970-71 Board of Education: Mr. Richard Russell, Mr. Earl Bishop, Mr. Dale Ballentine, Dr. B. W. Kramer, Mrs. Patricia Gloor, Mr. Steve Dubas, and Mr. Willard Hunzeker.

Mr. Willard Hunzeker, superintendent, completed his thirteenth year at Fullerton High.

Max Irvin, principal, issues Debby Nelson a make-up slip.

Personnel Work Behind Scenes

When one thinks of a school, one usually thinks of students, faculty, and administration; but there are several other individuals whose work is essential to its welfare. Without secretaries, cooks, and custodians, there would be few records, no food, and much confusion.

Mrs. Margaret Leininger, secretary, "Sweetheart of F.H.S.," updates her books.

Keeping a record of the students' meals occupied much of Mrs. Jack Mann's time.

Mr. Virg Kula, an F.H.S. custodian, performs one of his essential duties.

Mr. Ray Dubas takes time out from his busy custodial schedule at Fullerton High.

Mrs. Annabelle Hansen, Mrs. Liz Stopak, and Mrs. Alice Sidders prepared school lunches.

Teacher Must Play Many Varied Roles

Throughout the year, teachers are shown every variety of human nature by their students; yet they manage to show sympathy and compassion in time of need. To be a teacher is to be an advisor, a critic, a disciplinarian, a friend, and most of all a human being. Although students don't often really think about it, teachers are truly SPECIAL!

Guidance counselor Walter Wolvin reviews future college plans with Rosemary Lesiak.

Home economics teacher Mrs. Irene Kula gives Mary George pointers in an assignment.

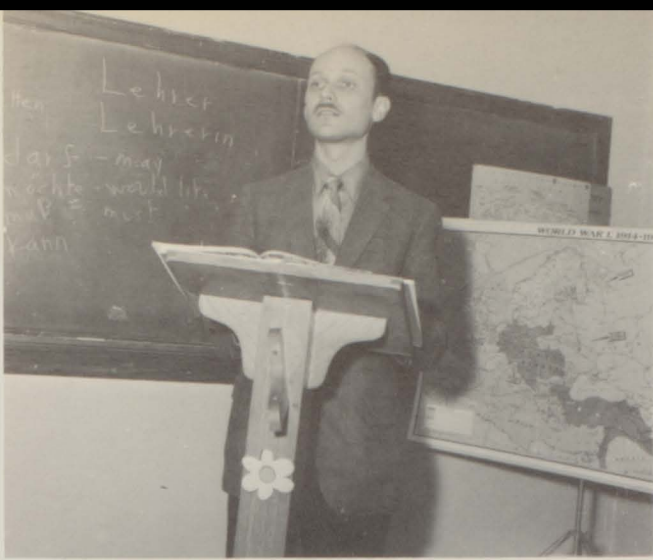

Mr. Harold Dissmeyer instructs Voc. Ag. students in the identification of plant types.

Mrs. Jacky Uhler is a great help in all of the business courses she teaches.

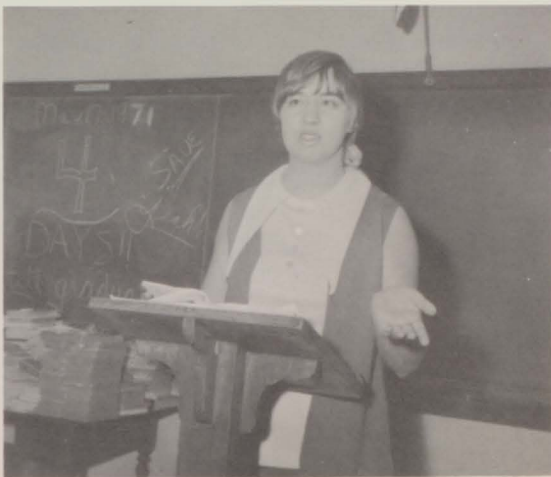

Librarian Mrs. Janette Knowles helps Susan Zywiec prepare new books for student use.

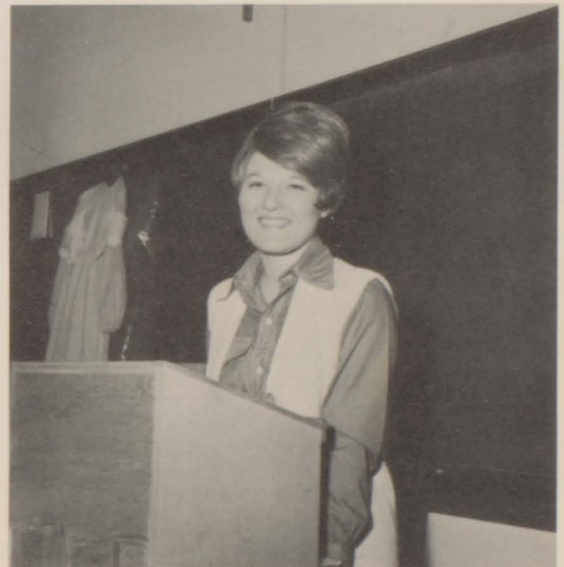

Sometimes German grammar isn't quite what it seems to be as Mr. Leigh Metcalf explains. "Verstehst du?"

Mr. Rodger Bassett tells Roger Nesbitt the deadline for making up the government test.

Class discussion was the order of the day in Mrs. Joan Bassett's junior English class.

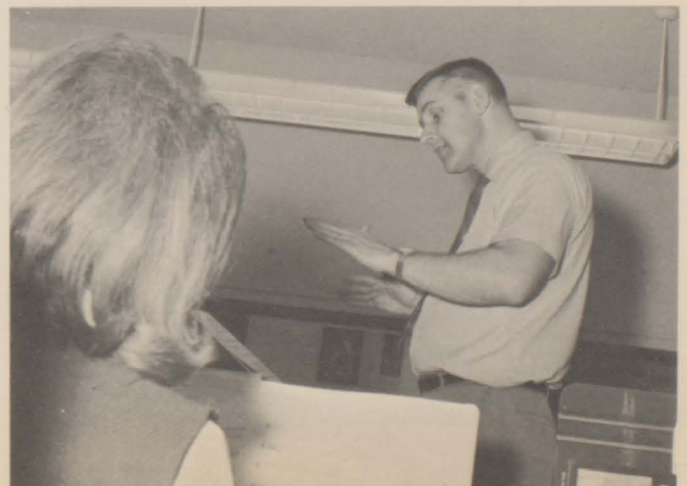

Miss Roni Meyer looks very cheerful after a day of explaining English grammar to freshmen.

Mr. Gerald Collingham seems to be trying hard to help Jane Koziel improve her art project.

"Oh, how beautiful this sounds!" Mr. Gary Yost really does have a good ear for music.

Physics students M. Milby and M. Morgan observe Mr. Gary Hall's electricity experiment.

Mr. Warren Hellbusch doesn't know what to think about Terri Zumbrunn's mixed-up chemicals.

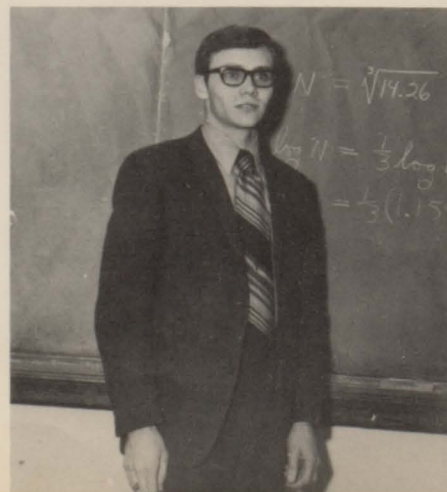

Class participation and discussion are important in Mr. Ralph Koskela's science class.

Doug Gilson seems skeptical about his mechanical drawing, but Mr. Barry Miller can help.

Mr. Bill Uhler tells the juniors that Algebra I isn't THAT hard.

'71 Council Revises School Dress Code

Student Council officers Glenda Schwensen, Paul Bialas, Vicki Smoyer, and Doug Gilson were successful in initiating projects for the '70-'71 year. Among the "regular" projects were: Sadie Hawkins Dance, Career Day, and, of course, filling the pop machines for thirsty students.

New projects undertaken by the Council included a breakfast program, which was well supported; an amended dress code, whereby girls are now able to wear pantsuits in place of dresses; and the sponsoring of a senior student to be sent to Presidential Classroom program in Washington, D.C. A member of the senior class is selected by a panel to represent Fullerton at the seminar, and the Student Council raises money through various projects. The program met wide approval and will continue to be an annual project as long as enthusiasm remains as strong as it was in 1971. As always, much credit for the Council's progress should go to the sponsor, Mr. Bill Uhler.

Loyal Annual Staff Works Long Hours

Among the several changes introduced by the 1971 Warrior staff was the monogrammed cover with its unusual color combination of brown and beige, a significant variation from past covers.

Enthusiastic Cheers Boost Team Spirit

The 1970-71 F.H.S. Pep Club promoted spirit and provided morale among the athletic squads in many ways this past year. Besides the numerous signs and posters that were displayed in the halls at school, there were many new ideas that were used. Some of the new spirit-promoting ideas included a "Big Mouth" award for the loudest yelling Pep Club girl at each game, Warrior signs made by the Pep Club girls for the players' cars and houses, and Indian headbands for the Pep Club girls to wear.

The pre-season bonfire started off the football season and was followed by the Homecoming activities. Homecoming activities included uptown window painting, the Homecoming parade, and the crowning of the queen.

New uniforms were also obtained this year, and combined with the new ideas, helped to make this past year a very successful one for the Pep Club.

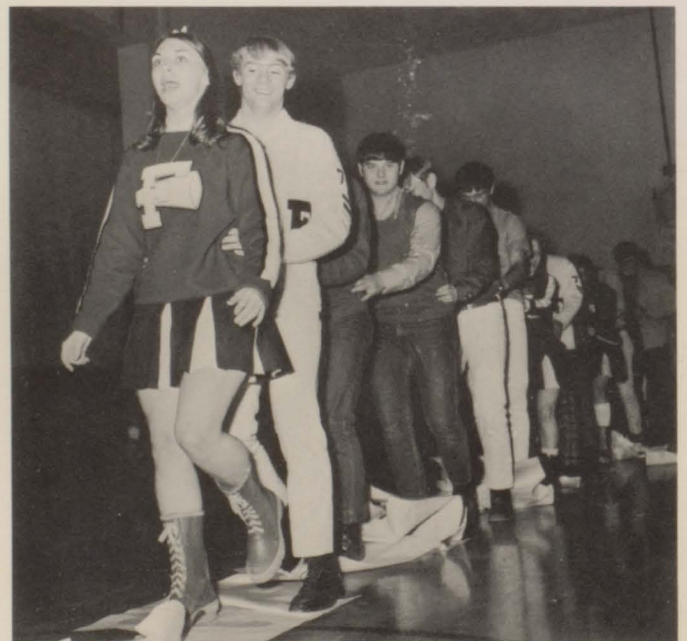

Pep Club was sponsored this year by Mrs. Bill Uhler and Mrs. Gary Yost.

Officers for the 1970-71 school year included M. George, v. president; C. Brower, president; J. Drury, secretary; and G. Schwensen, treasurer.

Yell leaders S. Makowski, M. Kotlarz, B. Bish, and A. Brogan kept a record of each girl's points.

Receive Honors At Cheerleading Clinic

This year's cheerleaders attended the National Cheerleaders Association Summer Clinic at Chadron State College for five days in June. In four sets of competition the girls received four Superior ratings. They won the "spirit stick" three times, one of these in final competition; therefore, the squad brought home the "spirit stick" and used it at F.H.S. to inspire the Pep Club and team at all games. Also Judy Maly was asked to apply to become an NCA instructor at the next clinic, which will be held in the summer of 1971.

The Varsity Cheerleaders were three seniors, Judy Maly (head cheerleader), Vickie Lewis, and Cathy Umstead; and two juniors, Dorene Hebda and Kendra Baker. The Reserve cheerleading squad consisted of four sophomores. They were Julie Hunzeker, Susan Knowles, Janet Brower, and Gwen Knopik. Both squads worked hard to instill a lot of pep and spirit into all of the students and teachers at Fullerton High School.

Reserve cheerleaders S. Knowles, J. Brower, G. Knopik, and J. Hunzeker helped instill a lot of pep and spirit.

F-Club Encourages Great School Spirit

F-Club members worked hard the year around to promote good sportsmanship and pride in Fullerton High School. Among other activities such as sponsoring the annual Basketball Dance and the grade school tournament, they added a few special projects. At the end of the year the students would find the boys busy selling mod stationary for a little extra money.

Spirit, Pride, and Ability are the goals of becoming a club member. A boy must letter in Basketball, Football, or Track. Coaches Miller, Petricek, and Collingham sponsored the organization.

The 1970-71 officers for F-Club included P. Bialas, R. Nesbitt, D. Gilson, R. Ksiazek, and W. Potter.

F.H.A. Style Show Praises Individuality

For the Fullerton chapter of Future Homemakers of America, 1970-71 was a busy and fun-filled year. Beginning with formal and informal initiation of new members and ending with Senior-Faculty Farewell and the Style Show, the year included several other time-consuming but ultimately rewarding activities. Among these were the district convention at Newman Grove, Trick or Treat for UNICEF, Tasting Tea, sending gifts to overseas servicemen, F.H.A. Week, Sweetheart-Beau Dance, the state convention in Lincoln, and preparing and serving the Athletic Banquet.

Fullerton girls showed some of their competitive spirit when Debby Hebda was elected district secretary and Sheri Fuehrer was state officer candidate for publicity chairman.

Many Honors Won By F.F.A. Chapter

1970-71 was a successful year for the Fullerton Chapter of the Future Farmers of America. The initiation of the greenhand farmers in the fall began the year with the addition of seventeen freshman F.F.A. members. In November volunteer F.F.A.'ers were sold as slaves to local patrons and the money from this project went to the treasury. F.F.A. members participated in crop, land, and livestock judging contests under the sponsorship of Harold Dissmeyer. At the crop's contest Fullerton captured first place in both team and individual competition with five members placing in the upper ten. Bob Oakley was awarded the State Agriculture Degree and Roger Nesbitt and Ed Dubas were selected as State Farmers. The social highlights of the year were the F.H.A.-F.F.A. Sweetheart and Beau Dance in February and the Annual F.F.A. Banquet in the spring.

Musicians Get High Awards At Contest

Fullerton musicians ranked very high this year at the annual District Music Contest held in Albion. The mixed chorus and boys' glee both earned a well-deserved "excellent" rating in competition. Individual members also earned well-deserved ratings ranging not below "excellent". Fullerton's only two piano solos played by juniors Mary Morgan and Dorene Hebda both earned "superior's." Mary and Dorene also gained a "superior" on their piano duet to start the list of "Superior" ratings.

Serving as accompanists for the various groups this year were freshman Gail Channer, juniors Mary Morgan, Dorene Hebda, and Mark Gloor, and senior Jean Drury.

The selected Madrigal group also performed at the contest and earned an "excellent" rating. In addition to contest competition, Madrigal and mixed chorus also participated in the Christmas program and various clinics.

Girl Singers Carry Happy Tunes In '71

Members of the Sophomore Octette included: C. Penne, M. Dubas, P. Christensen, M. Proski, L. Adams, J. Brower, S. Knowles, and J. Hunzeker.

The "Sharp" female musicians of Fullerton High School had a successful year in the Music Department. In addition to singing at the annual Christmas Concert in December, the girls' glee rated an "excellent" in the Music Contest held in Albion on April 23rd and 24th. The three small groups—the Sophomore Octette, the Junior Triple Trio, and the Senior Sextette—also participated in the music contest. The '71 seniors received a "superior" rating for the third year in a row. The latter two groups received "excellent" ratings. Among the accompanists for the several groups were: Dorene Hebda, Mary Morgan, Jean Drury, Mark Gloor, and Gail Channer. Mr. Yost, who has been F.H.S. Music Director for several years, has surely been dedicated to the music talents of Fullerton High School students.

F.H.S. Band Hosts Annual Band Clinic

The band practices diligently under the direction of Gary Yost, this year's music director.

Mr. Gary Yost completed his twelfth year directing the marching and concert bands. The marching band performed at all home football games. It played for home basketball games and for pep rallies. The band also attended Band Day in Lincoln in the fall.

The concert band held its annual spring concert and played at District Music Contest in Albion and at graduation. The band also hosted the Nebraska Wesleyan touring band at a special concert for the public. Members of the Fullerton band hosted members of the college band in their homes overnight.

Serving as majorettes for the 1970-71 school year were: senior Debbi Nesbitt, sophomore Connie Whited, and senior Sandy Kramer. The girls worked very hard to perfect their routines and led the marching band in football games.

French Horn Quartette was composed of D. Shotkoske, J. Maly, J. Brower, and J. Prososki.

Brass Sextette members included: G. Ballentine, J. Kramer, M. Channer, D. Shotkoske, P. Christensen, and M. Gloor.

All Groups Receive Excellent At Albion

There were four small instrumental groups representing the musical talents of Fullerton High School students. The 1970-71 groups were: Brass Sextette, Trumpet Trio, Horn Quartette, and Trombone Quartette. At the District Music Contest in Albion all four of the groups received excellent ratings. In addition to contest participation, each group also performed at a pre-contest band concert held for the public in the spring.

Making up the Trombone Quartette were R. Morris, R. Shemek, C. Penne, and M. Channer.

Head Coach Barry Miller and "Chaz" plan out their defensive strategy against Wood River.

Warriors Deal Out Successful Season

The 1970 Warrior football season finished with a record of 5-4. The squad had to overcome many barriers before they could begin to function at the top of their ability. One of the obstacles was the ever-present problem of injuries. Many of the returning lettermen received injuries both before and during the season. The team was able to pull itself together and function as one unit, thus achieving a winning season.

The team worked under the able supervision of Head Coach Barry Miller and his staff of dedicated assistants. Due to his fine coaching and his knowledge of the game, the team was able to put out an extremely fine effort the majority of the time.

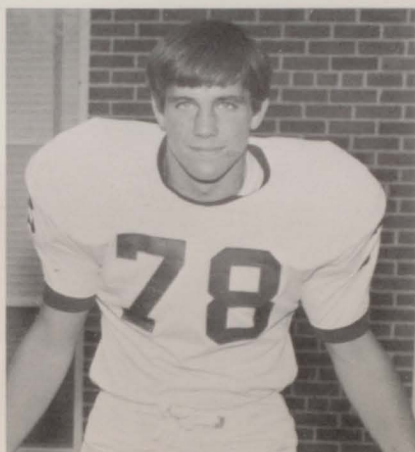

This year, as usual, the Warrior team was able to supply a number of squad members to the All-Conference team. They were Bob Oakley, Dick Ksiazek, Dave Fitzgerald, and Roger Nesbitt.

Now the team is preparing itself for the upcoming season.

Netters Stuff Hoop But Road Is Rough

The 1970-71 Warrior basketball season finished with a disappointing record of 4-14. Close to the start of the season the team suffered a serious setback, due to the loss of a key player. The team, even though they put out a 100% effort, were not able to win against many considerably tougher teams.

Most of the team's strength has graduated so the coach is looking ahead to some promising cagers. Among them are Rick Roewert, Mark Gloor, Jeff Horacek, Tom Delancey, and Bill Anderson. There are a couple of sophomores who will bear watching in the near future; they are Randy Furby and Tim Kramer.

Coach Gerald Collingham did a fine job coaching the reserves who had a 4-9 record, and Coach Warren Hellbusch worked hard with the freshmen who had a losing season.

Girls Display Skills In Track And Field

The '71 Warrior girls' track squad finished its first year on the track circuit. Considering that this was the initial year for girls' track, the amount of participation was very high. The number of girls just about equaled the number of boys out for track.

Head Coach Gerald Collingham was excited over the prospect that there will be a girls' squad next year. The outlook is good, with many juniors and sophomores returning after earning their first-year letters.

The two girls who rated the highest in points this year were Sandy Kramer and Julie Hunzeker. Sandy participated in the 880-yard run and the discus. Julie ran the 440-yard dash, 100-yard dash, and the 50-yard low hurdles.

This was the first year that the girls were invited to the Athletic Banquet for participating in a sport rather than for being a Varsity Cheerleader or a senior pep club member. It added a new spark to the banquet and a significant change to F.H.S. athletic history.

Tracksters Oppose Strong Competition

The 1971 Warrior varsity boys' track squad this year had to oppose some very strong competition from schools both in and out of our conference.

Despite the opposition, Fullerton tracksters were able to shine above everyone else in many events.

The one event that surprised the most people was the two-mile run. The participant was a freshman, Kevin Morris, who showed some very promising talent.

In the shot and discus Bob Oakley did an outstanding job. Bob was able to represent Fullerton at the state track meet held in Kearney this year. Bob was also the total points winner for the season.

The two-mile relay team comprised of Jeff Shotkoski, Tom Nesbitt, Tom Delancey, Jack Nelson, and alternate Tom Elznic were in the spotlight and should receive credit for their outstanding efforts. This group showed a great deal of talent at the district meet at Grand Island against some formidable competitors.

The 1971 track season drew to a close with the Boys' District Meet at Columbus Lakeview on May 14. Bob Oakley, however, qualified for the State Meet in the shotput. Coaches felt that both squads showed strength and the season was a success.

The annual Athletic Banquet was held on April 3 this year. The head coaches of each sport spoke to the honored athletes, cheerleaders, and senior Pep Club members, summing up the football and basketball seasons and making predictions for the track season. Lettermen for the football and basketball programs were announced and prospects for next year were cited. The banquet's finale was filmed highlights of the Cornhusker Football season.

Melodrama Invites Cheers And "Boo's"

Drat! Rufus Hardart and his top mounties, Steve Stardust and Lucky Wilson, are trying to make me one of them. Rufey, as my stepmother Nell Carp calls Hardart, discovered that I am his long-lost son and Naomi, the pretty maiden whom I wanted for my wife, is actually my sister. Now she is married to Stardust. He was the intended groom of my step-sister, Andrea, but it turned out that Stardust is her brother. Even my sidekick in crime, Tork, turned out to be my sister, and we told the large turnout at "Naomi of the Northern Lights" that I, Dirty Pierre, would be good and atone for my crimes. But a policeman?

"It's very seldom we see a beautiful woman out here, Miss LaFlesh. What brings you such a distance?"

"Choose your answer carefully, Nell, for if you fail me I'll blow the terrible secret of your past."

"I must go, nay, do not follow me. Oh, why do you wish to tear my heart to pieces?"

"Good God! They've gone inside!" Mr. Dussel frantically tries to remove Anne's Hanukkah "gift" from his ears.

Anne Frank's Faith Is Drama Theme

"The Diary of Anne Frank," directed by Miss Roni Meyer, was presented on November 24, 1970. This dramatic play is a true story based upon the actual writings found in the diary of a young Jewish girl, who, along with seven others, for two and a half years, hiding from the Nazis, lived in the "Secret Attic" of a warehouse. Faced with many hardships and fears, these people constantly struggled with reality in an attempt to maintain their sanity. Their faith in God, in themselves, and in their friends kept these people alive and happy.

"We are now in what is known as the bean cycle," announces Anne as she follows irritated Mr. Van Daan.

1970 Homecoming candidates were, l. to r.: Glenda Schwensen, Judy Maly, Carol Brower, Rosemary Lesiak, Cathy Umstead, and Vickie Smoyer.

Homecoming Sees A Warrior Victory

October 16, 1970 saw another Homecoming at Fullerton. The eventful day began with the annual parade of class floats through the downtown district, followed by a pep rally. The activities resumed that evening with a Louplatte Conference gridiron contest, Fullerton taking top honors from Wood River with a final score of 34-0. The crowning of Judy Maly as 1970 Homecoming Queen was the highlight of the half-time program. Her attendants included Carol Brower, Rosemary Lesiak, Glenda Schwensen, Vicki Smoyer, and Cathy Umstead. The 1970 festivities were climaxed the following evening by a dance held in the high school auditorium, honoring the queen and royalty. "The Rouges' Gallery," a rock group from Norfolk, provided the music for the Homecoming finale.

Carol Is '71 Queen At F-Club Festivity

One of the major events sponsored by the F-Club is the Basketball Homecoming. This year, the annual festivity took place on March 5. The students attending the affair danced to the sounds of "Fate," a Nebraska rock ensemble, and later witnessed the crowning of Carol Brower, senior Pep Club president, as the 1971 Basketball Queen. Following a short reception, the dance resumed and brought to a close another Basketball Homecoming.

Females Liberated By Sadie Hawkins

Women's liberation hit Fullerton High with the Sadie Hawkins dance, when the Fullerton Feminist got the chance to "court" the guys of their choice. The yearly event, sponsored by the student council, was chaperoned this year by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Uhler.

The dance was set in the grade school lunch room, which was decorated with corn shocks, privies, and a clothes line draped with an old-fashioned pair of long johns.

Marriage ceremonies were conducted by "Marryin' Sam" Mark Gloor, and nuptial pictures were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hellbusch.

Costume winners were Tracy Patton, Dale Dubas, Kathy Plumbtree, and Tom Sonderup.

Sponsors Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Collingham and Lyle Casper check plans with Mr. Irvin.

Class Trip Feature Is Air Force Tour

A long bus ride, limited seating, and several squirt gun battles were only a few memories shared by the seniors on their long-awaited trip to Colorado Springs. The class visited the Air Force Academy, the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo, and Seven Falls as a part of the educational tour. In spite of the long hours, the sneak trip will be a long-remembered event.

Contestants were: STANDING: Debby Shotkoske, Interpretation of Prose; Kathy Hadfield, Extemporaneous Speaking; Mark Gloor, Interpretive Public Address; Carol Brower, Discussion; and Glenda Schwensen, Discussion. SEATED: Judy Maly, Informative Public Address; Kendra Baker, Original Public Address. Not Pictured: Sandy Kramer, Interpretation of Poetry; Tom Sonderup, T.V. and News Commentary.

Speech Contestants Show Great Talent

Fullerton High participants were successful in another season of speech and drama contests. At the Louplatte Conference Contest, Fullerton contestants tied for second place in the overall sweepstakes. Another second place was won at the Red Raider Speech Contest, which featured eleven schools. District Contest brought the season to a close for most of the contestants; however, Kendra Baker, Judy Maly, and Sandy Kramer competed in the Doane Invitational State Speech Contest. Judy received a first-place award in her event; Sandy received second-place honors in her competition.

"Archy and Mehitabel" was the script chosen to be read by a group of freshman and sophomore students in the Oral Interpretation of Drama event. These students scored a top superior at the Red Raider Meet with a perfect score. The one-act play, "A Smell of Burning," received a top superior at District, and its three cast members all were cited in the best acting category. Other Fullerton contestants received many "excellents" and "superiors" throughout the season. Miss Roni Meyer served as director.

Judy Maly explains the method of analyzing hand writing in her event.

Sandy Kramer interprets the poetry which she has chosen for Speech Contest.

Oral Interpretation of Drama contestants were: Patty Grzywa, Gwen Klassen, Lori Adams, Mary Dubas, Diane Hellbusch, and Mike Jones.

John Lesiak portrays the evil habits of Paul Bialas in their interpretation of "Idol of Evil."

Villain Wendel Potter watches as Kathy Hadfield and Steve Nelson identify themselves with the audience in the one-act play, "A Smell of Burning."

A 'Moonlight Oasis' Sets Prom Theme

The auditorium was transformed into an Arabian desert to set the scene for "Moonlight Oasis," the theme for the 1971 Junior-Senior Prom. The evening began with the banquet, where the guests were served by the waiters and waitresses chosen from the sophomore class. They were appalled in Arabian Nights attire and entertained after the dinner with a song and dance. Mark Gloor, junior class president, served as Master of Ceremonies and welcomed the senior guests. A response was made by senior class president Roger Nesbitt, and the program closed with Mr. Gerald Collingham addressing the seniors, taking them on a "tour" of their school years.

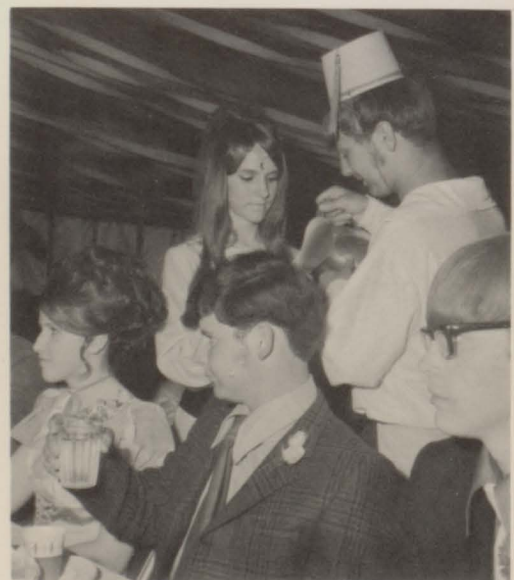

Gay-colored formals, popular music, and the beautiful decorations made the evening prom a gala affair. A musical ensemble from Kearney provided the dance music and performed in a night-club style, the first of its type at Fullerton High. It was met with widespread enthusiasm and added to the romantic atmosphere which is so much a part of Prom. This created the grand finale for an exciting evening.

Honor Convocation Cites Achievements

Numerous students were recipients of awards at the annual Honors Convocation held May 19. Presentations were made by members of the faculty. In the science division, Rosemary Lesiak received the Bausch and Lomb Award, given to the senior student with the highest average in four years, of science. Miss Lesiak, Sandra Kramer, and Kathy Dissmeyer received Honors Placement Recognition from the University of Nebraska. A National Mathematics Award, awarded the student who receives the highest grade on the math test, went to Matt Travers. Mark Gloor received a certificate for overall participation in music. Two students from each class are selected by the faculty to be awarded the Citizenship medal. Recipients were: Vickie Gabriel and Kevin Morris, freshmen; Gwen Knopik and Matt Travers, sophomores; Mary Morgan and Mark Gloor, juniors; Rosemary Lesiak and Wendel Potter, seniors. Kathy Dissmeyer and Doug Gilson received the Danforth Foundation Awards, given to a senior boy and girl for leadership qualities and character development. The program ended with the tapping and swearing in of five senior girls to the National Honor Society. Members from past years were present to assist in conducting the ceremony.

Fifty-Two Seniors Face Road of Life

"The Greatest Drama—LIFE" was the theme chosen by the four senior speakers at Commencement Exercises May 24. The speeches included "Life is in Hysterics—A Drama of the Absurd," by Wendel Potter; "Laughing at Life," by Doug Gilson; "Tragedy in Life's Dramatic Plot," by Sandy Kramer; and "Reality—The Collage of Life," by Rosemary Lesiak. Special music for graduation included a duet by Dale Dubas and Mary Channer and selection by the senior girls' sextette. Six seniors—Jean Drury, Betty Grzywa, Sandra Kramer, Rosemary Lesiak, Judy Maly, and Linda McCray—received trophies for ranking scholastically in the top ten percent of the class. Kathy Dissmeyer, Mary George, Sandra Kramer, Judy Maly, and Terri Zumbunn were also recognized for receiving various scholarship awards. Baccalaureate services were conducted May 23 and included a prayer and sermon, "The Gentle Revolutionary," by Reverend John Barklind.

Class of '74 Sees Bright Days Ahead

Studies, sports, and extracurricular activities have all demanded much time and energy from the new freshmen as they embarked on the four-year voyage of their high school days. Many wonderful and not-so-wonderful experiences have left lasting impressions on the memories of every member of the class of '74. Among them have been initiations into organizations, a class float, new teachers, new friends, and new knowledge. Being a freshman has the definite "stamp" of "underclassman" attached to it; but even so, the class of '74 has the leadership and ability to prove themselves in the years to come.

Freshman officers for the year were: K. Smoyer, president; S. Lesiak, secretary; J. Dubas, treasurer; and J. Kramer, vice-president.

Sophomores Prove Leadership Abilities

"Wow, we're finally sophomores!" All the anxiety and embarrassments of their freshman year were now turned into pleasant memories. Ordering class rings, a dance, and placing second on their class float were just a few of the activities which fulfilled their year. The sophomores gave an outstanding display of athletic ability. There were more letterers among this class than any other. Mr. Koskela, class sponsor, gave much of his time and encouragement to the class, helping to make the year an even greater success.

Juniors Caught Up In F.H.S. Activities

The activities crowding the schedule of a junior were enough to keep him "on his toes" all year. Activities included: County Government Day, Merit tests, selection of Boys' and Girls' State, and decorating for Prom. Magazine sales and class play financed the Junior-Senior Prom. The importance of class rings helped fulfill the junior year. Time has gone by so quickly that even now they can hardly remember where it has gone and what has been left behind. Juniors, realizing that there was only one precious year left, cast off the term "followers" and became the mighty Seniors of 1972.

Aspiring Graduates Seek Responsibility

The senior class of 1971 leapt into its role as leaders with excitement, pride, and thanksgiving. At last, the frightened freshmen of four years ago had become the reigning upperclassmen. No member of the class could ever forget the experiences shared during the last year at F.H.S. Class loyalty and a "count-off" calendar marking the days left till graduation filled the year with memories. Most unforgettable of all was the Senior Sneak. Although the trip to Colorado was a "dry run," it can truthfully be said of the class of '71: "They tried!" For all, the excitement of being a senior hurried the year along to its end. Now the Graduates of 1971 face the future with the words: "I'm Not Afraid of Tomorrow, For I've Seen Yesterday and I Love Today."

Officers for the "Great Class of '71" were: S. Kramer, treasurer; R. Nesbitt, president; J. Maly, vice-president; and R. Lesiak, secretary.

"Life is a series of todays which so quickly turn into yesterdays that some of us spend our time looking regretfully backward. Still others, through worry or procrastination, are always waiting for tomorrow. In either case, there's the real danger of overlooking a very important day...today. For this is the place and the time for living. Let us live each day abundantly and beautifully while it is here."
